SUBJECT: Taxonomy for the Acquisition of Services

In September 2010, the USD(AT&L) described ways the Department can achieve its mandate to restore affordability in defense spending. In particular, the USD(AT&L) directed each military component to organize their spend for services into six portfolios (categories) using a taxonomy that maps Product Service Codes (PSCs), as set forth in the Federal Procurement Data System Product and Service Codes Manual. The Department has used this taxonomy for several years to facilitate strategic sourcing.

The attached taxonomy is consistent with the Department's effort to institutionalize strategic sourcing. As services become managed by portfolios, senior managers will gain significant insight into the attributes of services spend. This will lead to better, fact-based decisions, and assist in establishing best practices and the sharing of lessons learned across the Department. Should you have any questions, please contact my Deputy Director for Program Acquisition and Strategic Sourcing, Mr. Stuart Hazlett, at 703-571-9013, or at Stuart.Hazlett@osd.mil.
